DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

608.02 [R-3] Drawing

35 U.S.C. 113. Drawings.

The applicant shall furnish a drawing where necessary for the understanding of the subject matter to be patented. When the nature of such subject matter admits of illustration by a drawing and the applicant has not furnished such a drawing, the Commissioner may require its submission within a time period of not less than two months from the sending of a notice thereof. Drawings submitted after the filing date of the application may not be used (i) to overcome any insufficiency of the specification due to lack of an enabling disclosure or otherwise inadequate disclosure therein, or (ii) to supplement the original disclosure thereof for the purpose of interpretation of the scope of any claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The claimed "validation of movement of the motor based on flow direction by at least one detected signal" was not described in such a manner to enable one skilled in the art to make and/or use it. Applicant suggests in [0008] to review the direction of movement of the electric motor based on flow direction. And the fault recognition can be substantially expanded and accelerated. Applicant suggests, that direction may be determined from the sequence of the frequency levels, see [0011].

To support the claimed limitations, applicant does not teach any means/or electrical/mechanical connections of means to provide for claimed method.

With respect to claims 2-12, other means to provide for claimed limitations are not supported by the disclosure.

Applicant is remind that no new subject matter can be added.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Regarding claim 1, the phrase "especially" in line 1, renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fortune et al. US # 5,315,218.

8. According to the submitted disclosure and as best as understood by the examiner, the claimed limitations are presented in Fortune et al. teaching with reference to Fig. 2. for motor controls for electrically actuated shifting mechanism including beside the others a reversible in-gear electric motor 36. Wherein the direction of operation of the motor 36 is determined by which two switches are closed to operate the motor. When in gear motor 36 is to be operated in a forward direction, the switches 76, and 82 are closed to conduct the electrical energy for energizing the in-gear motor. And for operation of the motor in the reverse direction switches 78 and 80 are closed to conduct the electrical energy for energizing the motor, (see col. 4, lines 23-68). For regulation of speed of the motor Fortune et al. used PWM.

In claim 5, Fortune et al. disclose that “ An electrically actuated shifting mechanism as set forth in claim 1 further including pulse width modulation means for effecting rapid operation of at least one of said switch elements between the conducting and nonconducting conditions to modulate a flow of current to at least one of said electric motor means during operation of the one electric motor means.

The detection of actual current is inherent to Fortune et al. teaching in order to modulate current flow to desired or required frequency.
